A. G. BRAGG, PIONEER PROSPECTOR MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

Residents of the Sweet Grass Hills were shocked this week when the news spread that A. G. Bragg, for 30 years a resident near East Butte, on Monday evening, October 3, fell from the top of a load of hay to the ground, meeting instant death. He was standing at the rear of the load, after the load had been weighed on the scales in front of the John E. Oswood home near Hill. As the front wheels left the scale platform, the sudden lurch caused him to lose his balance and fall to the ground, severely bruising his head and also breaking some ribs over the heart. The coroner was notified and immediately came to the Oswood home. After hearing the testimony of the driver of the team he declared that the cause of death was accidental.

Mr. Bragg was a veteran of the Civil war, and was born in West Virginia on Jan. 11, 1847. For many years he was employed by the government as packer at old Fort Assiniboine. About 1890 he took up a homestead near East Butte and has engaged in placer mining. He was a kindly man, well liked by his neighbors. He leaves no known relatives but his friends and neighbors mourn his passing.

Geo. Bourne, of Havre, whom Mr. Bragg held in high esteem, attended to the funeral arrangements of his friend. Services were held in the local chapel Wednesday at 2 P.M. Rev. J H. Smith officiating. Interment was made by Geo. Ainley in the local cemetery.

In honor of Mr. Bragg being an old war veteran, all of the members of the American Legion that were here attended the funeral services.
Mrs. Frank Bassett was called to Odessa, Washington yesterday, having received a telegram that her father, George Greenwalt, had passed to the Great Beyond. He was 69 years of age on the 15 of April. Mrs. Bassett stated that he was in fine health a couple of weeks ago, but the message did not state the cause of his death.

J. N. Harvey, a Suicide.

On Wednesday morning the residents of this community were severely shocked by the news that J. N. Harvey, mayor of Chester and for ten years cashier of the First State Bank, had taken his life by his own hand.

According to report Mr. Harvey arose as usual on Wednesday morning at about 7:30 o'clock, after a very restless night. He attended to the kitchen fire, then took the milk pail, went to the barn and milked the cow. He turned the cow out into the yard and returned to the house with the milk. Mrs. Harvey had not yet risen, and it is supposed he then took the rifle, a 250-3000 Savage and went back to the barn.

After Mrs. Harvey had arisen her attention was attracted by the cow in the yard and the absence of Mr. Harvey. She went out to investigate and found Mr. Harvey on a pile of alfalfa hay, with the gun at his side. She then went to the barn and called to Jack Schafer who happened to be passing by. Mr. Schafer came over and spoke to Mr. Harvey and receiving no response called Dr. Ewart. Dr. Ewart arrived immediately and the body of Mr. Harvey, who was still breathing, was carried into the house. The doctor made a hurried examination of the unconscious man and began dressing the wounds, but Mr. Harvey soon expired.

The examination showed that the bullet from the high powered rifle had entered the right of the middle of the breast bone, penetrating the heart and coming out through the left shoulder blade.

Exactly what took place in the barn before the suicide, no one will be able to say, but he could have been either standing over the gun or lying down. Coroner Layton was called at once and at the inquest an examination was made for the exit of the bullet but none was found.

The jury found that he had come to his death by his own hand.

It has been generally known that Mr. Harvey had been very despondent for some time prior to his death.

Since his resignation as cashier of the First State bank, a position which he filled for 10 years, he had been assistant in the office of county treasurer Oakley. It is believed that financial worries, coupled with repeated crop failures and the closing of the doors of the First State bank, had been preying on his mind for some time. and believing it unbearable, he committed the rash act.

According to the papers that have been filed since his death, it is believed that the act was premeditated, as property and other things of value had been dated and transferred to Mrs. Harvey, the day before.

Mr. Harvey was a prominent Odd Fellow, and was especially well liked by all who knew him. He left no note or papers to signify his reason for taking his life.

Funeral services will be held in the M. E. church, Chester at 2 p. m., and interment will be made in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

All of the relatives of the deceased have been notified and the following will arrive today and tomorrow: Mrs. E. N. Harvey, mother; Henry N. Harvey, brother; Mrs. A. E. Logan, sister, all of Benson, Minn. Mrs. John Peterson, sister, Starbrook, Minn. Mrs. R. Maursetter, sister, Clarksfield, Minn. Mrs. A. E. Cornelson, sister from Benson, Minn. Mrs Harvey's brother, A. P. Simonson and sister, Clara, will arrive from Starbrook, Minn. Mrs. P. T. Campbell, sister of Mr. Harvey and Mr. Campbell arrived yesterday from Roy, N. Dakota.

J. N. Harvey Funeral Sunday.

The funeral services of the late Jacob N. Harvey, who passed away January 19, were held at the M. E. church, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. C. S. Martin officiating. The members of Ivy Lodge, No. 90, turned out in a body and headed the long funeral procession to the cemetery, where they conducted the last rites. The church was packed to overflowing with residents, who came to pay their respects to the deceased and Reverend Martin preached a masterly sermon.

Jacob Nelson Harvey was born at Benson, Minn, 38 years ago, and came to Montana in 1910. He accepted a position at the First State Bank, which he held until about two months prior to his death. He spent two terms in the mayor's chair, and it is to his diligence and economy that the affairs of the town of Chester are getting along in such good shape.

He was a modern man, full of energy and always willing to help along everything for the good of the community. To say that he was well liked is putting it mildly. He had a large host of friends to whom the news of his death was a severe shock.

He leaves a wife and son, Albert to mourn his departure, besides a mother and several brothers and sisters who came from afar to pay their homages to the dead.

GALATA FARMER KILLED IN FALL FROM WAGON

While engaged in hauling gravel for the Toole county road project from a pit on the Geo. Lewison place 5 miles northwest of Lothair, Valentine Stahr on Thursday noon was thrown from the wagon on which he sat to the ground, the fall breaking his neck and also his right arm. No one was present at the time of the accident but it is surmised that he struck the wagon tongue in his fall and then struck the ground. The wagon tongue was broken and the team had become excited and run away. The accident happened a short ways from the pit.

Mr. Stahr was born in Wurtemberg, Germany on February 14, 1852, and was 69 years and 7 months of age. At the age of two years he arrived in the United States with his parents and for the next fifteen years they lived in Indiana. In 1867 the family moved to Hickman, Fulton county, Kentucky. In 1897, Mr. Stahr, then having a family of his own, moved to Polson, Montana, where he farmed for three years. In 1910 he selected a homestead 5 miles northeast of Galata, which he was still farming.

He leaves to mourn him, his wife and five daughters, Misses Ella and Nettie and Evelyn, Mrs. Ben A. Rush, and Mrs. Margaret Hughlett.

The remains will be shipped Saturday to Hickman, Ky. Misses Ella and Nettie will accompany the body.

Mr. Stahr was exceptionally well liked by all who knew him, a fine neighbor and friend, and was never known to feel discouraged or blue, no matter what befell. He was a real optimist, an excellent father and we feel certain his daughters will miss him very much.
