RANCHER AND WIFE BURN

Explosion in Kitchen Stove Sets Clothes of Bert Axness of South of Chester, Afire; Mother-in-Law Saves Children

Chester, Sept. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Axness, farmers living about 10 miles south and two west of Chester, were burned to death in an early morning fire at their farm home Tuesday. Mrs. C. I. Morkid, mother of Mrs. Axness, was with them and succeeded in saving her life and the lives of seven children ranging in age from a 24-hour-old baby to the eldest girl, eight years of age.

Mr. Axness was in the habit of starting the morning fire with coal oil or distillate and about daylight he started to build the fire. An explosion followed and he rushed into the dining room and bedroom to inform the family that the kitchen was afire. By this time he was a living torch, having put on his greasy coverall in which he worked on a threshing machine and engine. According to Mrs. Morkid, who was asleep in the same room with her daughter, baby and several of the children, Mrs. Axness, who had given birth to a baby girl a scant 24 hours before, arose from her bed and went to the dining room to assist Mr. Axness. Apparently she fainted because neither husband or wife were seen again.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were taken from the cellar several hours later.

Due only to the valiant efforts of Mrs. Morkid, who is 61 years of age, were the children rescued. The house, which contained four rooms, had but one door and that was in the kitchen. It is stated that she broke out a window and threw out a mattress and then threw the children out one at a time.

The children were rescued without any clothing except their night clothes, and the ladies of Chester went to their rescue, going out in force, Wednesday and taking the measures of all for new outfits. The expense of the new clothing was covered by the following donations: the Ladies Aid, $50.00; Rebekahs, $35.00, and the American Legion, $25.00.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in Chester.

BERT AXNESS AND WIFE PERISH IN BURNING HOME

ATTEMPT TO START FIRE WITH DISTILLATE PROVES FATAL TO FARMER AND WIFE. MRS. C. I. MORKRIED SAVES LIVES OF SEVEN CHILDREN. FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY.

A tragic event took place on the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Axness early Tuesday morning when an explosion in the kitchen stove set fire, caused Mr. Axness to try to help him, both perishing from the flames, and left seven children ranging in age from a 24 hour old baby to a girl eight years of age as orphans.

According to reports, Mr. Axness, whose home is 10 miles southwest of town, arose at daylight, and, as was his usual custom, started building the kitchen fire, using distillate in doing so. An explosion followed and he rushed, a living torch, from the kitchen to the dining room and thence into the bedroom, shouting that the house was on fire and to save themselves. In the bedroom on the lower floor were Mrs. Axness and her day-old baby girl, her 65 year old mother, Mrs. C. I. Morland, and four of the children. In an upstairs room were two children who slept with their father.

Mr. Axness turned back into the dining room, where Mrs. Axness arose from her bed and followed him in an attempt to help her husband. Her mother implored that she not go into the room but the bidding was in vain. It is thought that Mrs. Axness wanted when she beheld her husband, and both perished. The terrified burned bodies, lying about five feet apart, were found in the cellar about four hours after the accident by Sheriff J. H. Morgan, Justice A. A. Pond, J. R. Fay and C. C. Walden.

The lower bedroom was a small room with one window, and there was but one outside door in the house, which was in the kitchen. The upper part of the bedroom window was down and a heavy screen was nailed to the outside. Tearing out the windows and ripping off the screen, Mrs. Morland placed three of the children in safety, meanwhile talking to the panicky children upstairs. After getting the first urge to safety she instructed the seven year old boy to throw some bedding out of the upper window, then to hold his five year old sister by the hands and drop her on the ground. He was then told to jump to safety. The baby girl, being so new an addition to the family, escaped Mrs. Morland's notice until after all the other children were safe. She then returned to the smoke filled bedroom and carried the little one out.

Smoke and heat were so intense in the dining room that she could do nothing. She dispatched the boy to her own home to call the men and she ran one half mile to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rolstad. By the time they returned there was no chance to rescue the bodies, nor to save anything from the home. The children had but the clothes in which they were sleeping, but kind neighbors soon assisted in fitting them up for the morning. Neighbors and many of the women of Chester were busy on their sewing machines yesterday sewing clothes for the children.

Due to the heroic efforts and complete presence of mind of Mrs. Morland the children saved, and too much credit cannot be given the grandmother in saving the little ones from the flames.

The bodies were so badly burned that they will both be placed in the same casket. and funeral services will be held at the M. E. church today at 2:30 P. M., Reverend Rygg of Joplin officiating.

Gunhild Morland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Morland was born at Sogn, Norway on October 11, 1890. She came to Montana in August 1910 and made her home with her parents until October 1916 when she was married to Mr. Axness at Great Falls.

Mr. Axness was also a native of Norway, having been born near Bergna on December 24, 1890. He came to America in 1911 and settled on a homestead near Dutton. In 1916 he sold the homestead, and after his marriage the couple purchased the farm on which they died.

To this union were born seven children, Alice age 8, Carl 7, Mildred 5, Allen 4, Olive 3, Bernice 18 months, and the day old baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Axness were highly respected people, hardworking and generous, and the manner of their passing was a great shock to the entire countryside. The sympathy of the community goes out to the parents, brothers and sisters of the deceased, and especially to the little children who in a fateful few moments were left fatherless and motherless.

C. G. BENTSON, FORMER LOTHAIR MERCHANT, PASSES AWAY

On our return Monday from Glacier Park, we were informed at Shelby that Charles G. Bentson, merchant at that place, and in the general mercantile business at Lothair for the past ten years, had passed away last Saturday morning, death being caused by hemorrhage of the throat.

Mr. Bentson was 41 years of age and leaves to mourn his untimely death, a wife and three children. He had been in poor health for several years, that death was just around the corner. He had been treated for rheumatism, gout and kidney trouble, but none of these ailments directly caused his death.

Mr. Bentson came up from Silverton, Oregon about ten years ago, and in partnership with Val Drougard, purchased the stock and building of the Bogert mercantile company. This spring, finding that business conditions in Lothair and vicinity did not justify two stores, he moved the stock of goods to Shelby. But conditions there were not of the best so he began closing out the stock just prior to his death.

His passing is a distinct shock to his many friends here and at his old home at Silverton, Oregon. His brother, Rudd Bentson, arrived from Silverton Friday night, just a short time before he passed away.

The body was shipped to Silverton for interment.

CHARLES GEORGE BENTSON

Charles George Bentson, born at Dell Rapids, South Dakota, June 25, 1886, died at his home in Shelby, Montana, Saturday, July 25, 1925, the immediate cause of death being from a bursted abscess in the right side.

For several years Mr. Bentson was employed in this city in the store known then as the Bentson general merchandise store, located in the room in the Odd Fellows building, now occupied by the Director Department Store. In February 1916, he moved with his family, to Lothair, Montana, where he engaged in the general merchandise business. About seven weeks ago he moved his business to Shelby, Montana. Although he had been in poor health for some time it was only six weeks prior to his passing away that his condition became alarming. In January, 1912, he was united in marriage to Ida Peterson of Santa Barbara, California. His brother Rudd Bentson, was notified of his serious condition last Thursday afternoon and left immediately for Shelby, reaching there a few hours before the end came.

Deceased is survived by his widow, three children, Harold, 12, Ario 8, Juanita 4. Also his mother Mrs. Olivia Bentson of Silverton, seven brothers and one sister, Rudd, G. B. Oscar and Harry Bentson and Mrs. N. G. Langsvev of Silverton, John Bentson, Cresbard, S. D., Albert Bentson, Waterloo, Iowa, Otto Bentson, Pt. Pierre, S. D.

The body was shipped to this city, arriving here Monday. Funeral services were held from the Trinity church, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Henrikson officiating. Interment was made in the Evans Valley cemetery in the family plot.

CRUSHED BY STEAM ENGINE

WAS TRYING TO EXTINGUISH FIRE CAUSED BY BACKFIRE FROM FIREBOX. BOY RUSHED TO CHESTER HOSPITAL, BUT INTERNAL INJURIES PROVE FATAL. PASSES AWAY AT 7:15 TUESDAY MORNING.

Bert B. Blair was born at Kalispell, Flathead County, Montana, the 28th day of December 1903, and died at Chester, Liberty County, Montana, the 15th day of September 1925. He was a good boy, a true friend and a most beloved son and brother.

BOY CRUSHED BY STEAM ENGINE

Bert B. Blair, 21 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Blair, whose ranch home is 16 miles north of Lothair, was fatally injured at about three o’clock Monday afternoon when one of the drive wheels of an immense 32-60 steam engine rolled backward upon his left leg at the groin. The wheel caused the muscle to be torn from the bone and seriously injured the intestines on the left side of the body.

While Mr. Blair was in town Tuesday he stated to the editor that a backfire from the firebox caused a fire to start in the stubble and that he, his son Bert and Mr. Wegner got underneath the tractor to put the fire out. When the warning was shouted to Mr. Blair, who is the engineer, he threw the wheel into reverse, and only when he looked downward did he know that someone was under the wheel. He immediately pulled ahead, and jumping from the engine went to his son who stated that he did not think he was badly hurt, as he was able to crawl away from the engine. The boy was immediately brought to Chester where several stitches were taken in his back and the patient felt that he would be able to be around in a short while of grief.

The accident was a terrible shock to Mrs. Blair and the family and friends.

Funeral services were held in the M. E. church yesterday at 1:30 o’clock, Rev. W. B. Cowgill of Lothair officiating. The body was shipped to Kalispell where it will find its final resting place in the family plot.

We join with the many friends and cousins residing at Kalispell and numerous friends in this community. Bert was a kind father and loving mother. His untimely death cut short the life of a very promising young man.

The accident was a terrible shock to Mr. Blair and his death is intensely felt by the grief stricken family and friends.

MAIL TRAIN KILLS SIX AT SHELBY

MR. AND MRS. HASQUET AND PARTY WERE ON WAY TO CHURCH SUNDAY MORNING WHEN TRAIN DEMOLISHES CAR

Six Shelby residents are dead as the result of an accident at the Great Northern railway crossing at Shelby when No. 27, the fast westbound mail train, crashed into a Dodge touring car in which six people were driving.

The dead are, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hasquet, pioneer Toole county ranchers; Mrs. O. V. McIntyre, wife of an Arro oil refinery representative; Virginia McIntyre, age 10, and Jean McIntyre, age 12, and Mrs. B. J. Lynch, wife of a car salesman of the Motor Home garage of Shelby.

Engineer W. D. Prentice of Havre, was driving the locomotive and R. M. Bates, fireman of Havre, was the other occupant in the engine cab. Both arrived yesterday from Shelby with the other members of the train crew after they were exonerated at the inquest, held Sunday evening.

The Hasquets, accompanied by Mrs. McIntyre and her two daughters, started to church shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. When within less than 50 feet of the crossing, Mr. Hasquet, who was driving, stopped the car to pick up Mrs. Lynch, also en route to the church service. The car then started for the crossing, eye witnesses said, and was struck squarely by the locomotive pilot.

Four of the occupants of the machine were hurled from the wreckage a short time after the crash. The bodies of Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Hasquet were found in the tangled debris on the locomotive. Members of the train crew, assisted by local residents, administered first aid to Mr. Hasquet and Mrs. Lynch who were rushed to the Conrad hospital in charge of doctors and nurses sent by the Great Northern. The others apparently died instantly or lived but a few minutes following the crash. The machine was totally demolished, with pieces of metal scattered along the right of way for several hundred feet.

The engineer and other members of the train crew reported that the train was not traveling in excess of 25 miles an hour, while several eye witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest that they estimated the speed from 25 to 35 miles an hour. The engineer also told railway officials that he so vigorously applied the brakes that he stopped the train within five car lengths after hitting the automobile. Other witnesses, who claimed to have measured the distance, fixed it at more than 900 feet.

The coroner's jury Sunday night returned the following verdict:

"We find that Michael Hasquet, Mrs. Jennie Hasquet, Mrs. O. V. McIntyre, Virginia and Jean McIntyre, came to their deaths by being struck by No. 27, the fast mail train of the Great Northern railway, while riding in a Dodge touring car, at the Sullivan hotel street crossing, of the main line trains of the Great Northern railway, within the corporate limits of the city of Shelby.

"That the cause of the said accident was the failure of the driver of the automobile to notice the approach of the train, due mainly to the fact that said crossing was obstructed by two box cars spotted on the industry track east of said crossing on the Great Northern railway, and to the entire absence of all safety devices at said crossing.

"We find also that the train crew of said No. 27, was powerless to avert said accident."

The Hasquets are retired ranchers and pioneer residents of this section. Two children, a boy 14 and a girl 7 survive. Mail Train Kills Six at Shelby

Mr. and Mrs. Hasquet and Party Were on Way to Church Sunday Morning When Train Demolishes Car

Six Shelby residents are dead as the result of an accident at the Great Northern railway crossing at Shelby when No. 27, the fast westbound mail train, crashed into a Dodge touring car in which six people were driving.

The dead are, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hasquet, pioneer Toole county ranchers; Mrs. O. V. McIntyre, wife of an Arro oil refinery representative; Virginia McIntyre, age 10, and Jean McIntyre, age 12, and Mrs. B. J. Lynch, wife of a car salesman of the Motor Home garage of Shelby.

Engineer W. D. Prentice of Havre, was driving the locomotive and R. M. Bates, fireman of Havre, was the other occupant in the engine cab. Both arrived yesterday from Shelby with the other members of the train crew after they were exonerated at the inquest, held Sunday evening.

The Hasquets, accompanied by Mrs. McIntyre and her two daughters started to church shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. When within less than 50 feet of the crossing, Mr. Hasquet, who was driving, stopped the car to pick up Mrs. Lynch also on route to the church service. The car then started for the crossing, eye witnesses said, and was struck squarely by the locomotive's pilot.

Four of the occupants of the machine were hurt from the wreckage a short time after the crash. The bodies of Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Hasquet were found in the tangled debris on the locomotive. Members of the train crew, assisted by local residents, administered first aid to Mr. Hasquet and Mrs. Lynch who were rushed to the Conrad hospital in charge of doctors and nurses sent by the Great Northern. The others apparently died instantly or lived but a few minutes following the crash. The machine was totally demolished, with pieces of metal scattered along the right-of-way for several hundred feet.

The engineer and other members of the train crew reported that the train was not traveling in excess of 25 miles an hour, while several eye witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest that they estimated the speed from 25 to 35 miles an hour. The engineer also told railway officials that he so vigorously applied the brakes that he stopped the train within five car lengths after hitting the automobile. Other witnesses, who claimed to have measured the distance, fixed it at more than 900 feet.

The coroner's jury Sunday night returned the following verdict:

"We find that Michael Hasquet, Mrs. Jennie Hasquet, Mrs. O. V. McIntyre, Virginia and Jean McIntyre, came to their deaths by being struck by No. 27, the fast mail train of the Great Northern railway, while riding in a Dodge touring car, at the Sullivan hotel street crossing, of the main line trains of the Great Northern railway, within the corporate limits of the city of Shelby.

"That the cause of the said accident was the failure of the driver of the automobile to notice the approach of the train, due mainly to the fact that said crossing was obstructed by two box cars spotted on the industry track east of said crossing on the Great Northern railway, and to the entire absence of all safety devices at said crossing.

"We find also that the train crew of said No. 27, was powerless to avert said accident."

The Hasquets are retired ranchers and pioneer residents of this section. Two children, a boy 14 and a girl 7 survive. Mr. Hasquet is survived by three brothers, Jean, Peter and John, while two brothers and one sister of Mrs. Hasquet live here—Guy and Jay Wilcox and Wilfred Sauby. Mrs. McIntyre, wife of O. V. ANTHONY ROLPH
DIES FROM HIS INJURIES

The community was greatly shocked and saddened yesterday morning when word came from the Chester hospital that Anthony Rolph, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Rolph, had died about 9 p.m. on Wednesday.

Anthony, aged 12 years, has been helping his father with the spring work and a few days ago as he was driving away to his work, after his father had assisted him to harness up his team, the team started to run. The boy was unable to get them under control and they threw him into a barbed wire fence and cut and tore one of his legs terribly. The injury was so severe and the boy was in so weakened a condition when he reached the hospital that Dr. Price was unable to dress the wound.

Funeral arrangements had not been made definitely as the Farmer went to press last evening, but it was thought that it would be held Saturday afternoon.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the suffering parents and brothers and sisters in their sad bereavement.
