RADIO SUMMONS FATHER TO SON'S DEATHBED

Havre, January 1.—Once more the service that Havre's broadcasting station KFBB is rendering the people of this community and the surrounding territory has been demonstrated. Arthur Anderson, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson of Alma was dangerously ill at the Sacred Heart hospital and when doctors attending him saw there was no hope of recovery they advised his mother, who was with the boy to get word to his father at Alma as it was apparent that he would not live twenty-four hours longer. His father was on their farm at Alma which is 20 miles north of Joplin, and there did not seem to be any way to acquaint him with the news in time to reach his son before he died.

A messenger was dispatched to the Buttrey broadcasting station who were broadcasting the Wednesday evening program, and the message was sent over the air and heard by the boy's father as he tuned in on this station that evening. He hurried to Havre and arrived in time to see his son before he passed away at 6:00 o'clock Thursday morning.

While the father could do nothing to save the life of his boy, yet he was thankful that he was with him in his last hours.

DUNKIRK HUNTERS
KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Shelby, Nov. 16.—Phillip Eischen and Jack McDaniels, ranchers living seven miles northeast of Dunkirk, were killed some time Saturday night when an automobile in which they were riding overturned not far from their homes. Their bodies were found Sunday morning by Charles Cox, Mrs. Eischen and Mrs. McDaniels.

Late that night, a dog they had taken with them returned to one of the homes, which led to the belief that the men had met with misfortune. Sunday morning the wives of the two men, accompanied by Mr. Cox began a search of the territory in which it was believed Eischen and McDaniels had been hunting.

Bodies of both men were found pinned beneath the fender of the truck, the right front wheel of which was smashed. It is believed the car hit a ditch causing it to overturn.

Eischen's skull was crushed, and it is thought he died instantly, but there no marks on McDaniel's body to indicate he met death so quickly. He probably was stunned and died from exposure, being unable to extricate himself.

Both men were well known in the community where they had lived for several years.

Sunday night he did not feel well but during the day he seemed to be feeling much better and made his observations as usual just before six o'clock. He had completed all his reports and finished writing the usual daily message to the department and was waiting for the messenger boy when death came.

He was born in Ohio 65 years ago and entered the government service 43 years ago. He was married at Poplar, Mont., where he was stationed 41 years ago. Several years were spent in Arizona, after which he was transferred to Fort Assinniboine and he has been here since.

GEORGE MURRAY PASSES AWAY
Citizens of the Sweet Grass hills received a severe shock yesterday when it was announced that George Murray, a prominent pioneer of Whitlash suddenly passed away at 2:40 o'clock yesterday morning.

According to meagre reports reaching this office, Mr. Murray had assisted in the hay field during the day, and having eaten a hearty supper retired at about ten o'clock. At midnight he was up, stating that his stomach bothered him. He sat down in a chair and apparently dozed off. Some one of the members of the house found him in this position shortly before two, and Mrs. Murray being called, they carried him to the outside porch and applied restoratives but he ceased breathing in a few minutes. Death was probably caused by acute indigestion affecting the heart.

Relatives have been notified and funeral services will be held in Chester under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. lodge, of which he was a member.

MURRAY LAID TO REST
Funeral services over the remains of Geo. Murray of Whitlash was held at the M. E. church last Friday afternoon. Rev. Nye of Lothair officiating. The services were in charge of the local I. O. O. F. lodge.

The church was filled with sympathizers of the relatives of the deceased and there were many large and beautiful floral tokens at the bier. The body was laid to rest in the local cemetery during the Oddfellow service.

Mr. Murray leaves to mourn his passing, his wife and daughter and other relatives. We join in extending to the deeply bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy.

IN MEMORIUM
M. RASMUSSEN

Morton Rasmussen, 87, old pioneer of the middle west, passed away at his home in Moscow, Idaho, February 10, 1926, after an illness of five days.

Mr. Rasmussen was born in Denmark on June 29, 1839. On November 27, 1863 he was married to Anna Margartt Hanson. To this union were born eight children, four sons and four daughters, three of whom preceded him, Henry C., at Spokane, Washington, a year ago due to an accident; and two in infancy. Two months after his marriage he answered the call of his country, then at war with Germany.

In 1868 he came to America and two years later settled on a homestead near Spencer, Iowa. There he helped to build up that splendid agricultural district, where he lived for thirty years. During this time he was successful in building a comfortable and prosperous home.

In 1900 he moved with his family to Kenmare, North Dakota, where, on those fertile prairies, he again built and beautified another comfortable home. A great part of his time since 1910 was spent at Joplin, Montana.

His was the true pioneer spirit and he was ever loyal to the country of his adoption. He lived a good and consistent christian life, while the deep honesty of his nature won for him the respect and admiration of friends and associates.

On November 27, 1925, he and his wife celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary at their home in Moscow, Idaho.

He leaves to mourn, his wife, two sons, C. K. and J. B. Rasmussen of Kenmare, North Dakota, Mrs. T. Madson, Moscow, Idaho and Mrs. E. C. Tolley of Joplin, Montana, all of whom were present at the funeral.

Funeral services were conducted at Moscow by Elder T. G. Thompson of the S. D. A. Church, Walla Walla, Washington. The beautiful floral offerings and the many friends present bore witness to the high esteem in which the departed was held. He was laid to rest in the Moscow cemetery.

He has been ailing nearly all of his life due to an injury received in childhood, and although he has consulted the best specialists, he has been unable to obtain relief.

Great Falls, October 26.—Charles M. Russell, inimitable genius who picturized the spirit of the west that used to be, has put down his brush. He died Sunday night at his home here at 1219 Fourth Avenue north, following a heart attack which came suddenly. Mrs. Russell and a physician were present when he died.

Funeral rites for the “Cowboy Artist” will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o’clock at the Episcopal church. Complying with a request which he made before he underwent an operation recently at Rochester, Minnesota, Mr. Russell’s body will be drawn to the grave in Highland cemetery by horses. Two black horses in this last service will exemplify the love he had for the great and open range, his love for the old west.

 Fame came to Charles M. Russell without the affections of pomp. Outstanding in his personal life was his lasting fidelity to his friends. He clung to them and they to him. The bonds formed when they rode the range were bonds unbroken. Although his fame spread farther and farther, finally anchoring itself in the galleries of the old world and in the metropolis of the new, Charles Russell chose to remain in the realms of the days that were. The traditions of the west and the stirring life of the puncher were still his inspiration.

The art of Russell was the art of a genius. He told the stories which he lived in his earlier work. But in later years he began to visualize the days which came before, and, with matchless power, he depicted upon the canvas the story of Lewis and Clark, the romance of the great wilderness, the epic of the red man on the plains of Montana. His work presents a virility of color, a perception of historic value and graphic accuracy of historic detail. His life has been a boon to Montana.

Great Falls, Oct. 25.—Charles M. Russell, 61, famous painter of western scenes known the nation over as the “cowboy artist” whose paintings have sold in this country and Europe at figures reaching ten thousand dollars died suddenly at 12 o’clock last night at his home here. Death followed a sudden heart attack. His wife and a local physician were with him when he died.

Mr. Russell complained of being in pain and in 20 minutes was dead.

In addition to his brother and sister, S. Ben Russell and Mrs. Pottis in St. Louis, Mr. Russell leaves his wife and son Jack. He had but lately returned from the Mayo hospital at Rochester where he underwent an operation for goitre and had not entirely regained strength.

Two years ago Mr. Russell suffered a severe attack of sciatica rheumatism which confined him to his bed for a number of months, and left him in a weakened condition. He was thought to be on the road to recovery and continued his work, yesterday afternoon visiting with friends here and expressing himself as feeling better than for some time, except that he was still weak. For the past two years owing to his physical condition he has been unable to ride a horse and this fact caused him much concern in his conversation with friends as he was a horseback rider for more than 40 years over northern Montana. Mr. Russell had his home and studio here and here did all his famous paintings for the past quarter of a century. The studio was an old log cabin of the early day type.

ANSWERS LAST CALL

Just as the editor was about to leave on her eastern trip, we were informed that Mrs. N. C. Thoreson, of Selma had passed away. No news of it was given in the Reporten, so we take the liberty of giving it to our readers even though it is a month late. Mr. Thoreson, who was in town Wednesday with the ballots from the Thoreson precinct, informed us that he and Mrs. Thoreson had started on an auto tour to the west coast, and on arriving at Helena Mrs. Thoreson became ill. After several days of treatment it became necessary to operate, and immediately following the operation on the 5, peritonitis developed, and she passed away on July 6. The body was brought to Great Falls and laid away in the beautiful Highland cemetery.

N. C. Thoreson and Estelle Francisco were married at Great Falls on Sept. 6, 1919, and had since resided, on the ranch in the Selma country. Mrs. Thoreson had been teaching the Selma school for several years, and was beloved by all who knew her.

Besides her husband to mourn her departure, are her mother, Mrs. Emma Thomas Francisco of Couer d'Alene, sister Daisy, and a brother at Great Falls and a sister at Birmingham, Alabama. —Chester Reporter.
