GEORGE T. AINLEY CALLED SUDDENLY

George T. Ainley, pioneer resident of the Chester community, and well known business man of this city for many years, died suddenly of a heart attack about 1:30 last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Ainley was stricken shortly after arriving at the cemetery, where he had gone to supervise the installation of a headstone, and to look after other work which he was instrumental in having done in preparation for Memorial day.

Soon after arriving at the cemetery he complained of a severe pain, and while being assisted to the car, collapsed and died within a few minutes.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from the Methodist church in Chester, with Rev. J. Torrance Harvey in charge. A large gathering of friends and neighbors from all over the county, as well as from outside points, assembled to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed pioneer.

Special musical numbers were given by members of the Methodist choir under the direction of Mrs. Eddie Thielman. Body bearers, all old friends and neighbors, were Frank Dennison, of Shelby, E. J. Blanchard, T. J. Smith, Geo. H. Gau, Roy Walden, P. H. Kuhry, Shebel Rehal and Dodds Keith. Burial was in the Chester cemetery.

Obituary

George Thomas Ainley was born July 18, 1873, at Winterset, Iowa, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ainley. He was married in 1899 in Greenfield, Iowa, where he lived for a time and then moved to Nebraska where he engaged in farming for a time, and then moved back to Iowa where he farmed until coming to Montana in 1910.

Mr. Ainley came to Montana with his family in the spring of 1910, and settled on a homestead just west and south of Chester. After farming for a few years he went into business in Chester, starting the first telephone exchange in town. He operated the telephone business until 1938, when he sold it, and since that time has devoted his time to the management of the Chester hotel, which he has owned and operated for a number of years.

In addition to his business activities, Mr. Ainley also took an active part in community affairs, and was a member of the city council when he died. He was county coroner for many years, and had charge of the mineral establishment for Holland Bonine in Chester for a number of years.

Mr. Ainley was always active in worthwhile community projects and took a leading part in the creation of Liberty county. He is credited with first suggesting the name of "Liberty" for the new county. A number of the sponsors of the new county gathered to decide on a name, each one writing his suggestion on a piece of paper, and from the list a choice was made through a process of elimination. Ainley suggested the name of Liberty, it quickly caught on and was adopted.

Mr. Ainley is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter, two brothers living in Chester and two in Iowa, and six grand children. The sons are Wesley and George, of Kalispell; and the daughter is Mrs. James Christian, of Shelby. The two brothers living in Chester are Arthur (Mike) and John (Jack). George Ainley was a friendly, congenial, well respected citizen, and will be greatly missed in the community. The many friends of the family extend sincere sympathy and condolence in their hour of bereavement.

Body of Merle Bathke Found Near His Home

The body of Merle Bathke was found about noon today near his home on Willow Creek by a searching party that went out from town during the forenoon.

The body was lying near a large tree only a short distance from the creek, and a distance of about a block and a half from the house.

Beside the body was a 30.06 shotgun. How the tragic accident occurred is not and never will be known.

Bathke had been missing since last Thursday, June 8th. He came into town on that day and took out a load of distillate, and was never seen alive again, so far as is known. Mrs. Bathke and the little boy remained in town to assist Mrs. Bathke's father, George Hunnewell, with some house work, expecting to return home Friday. On Friday it was raining and she was unable to go out. Saturday she returned home but Merle was not there. She then went to the True Ray home, intending to await the return of her husband. No particular alarm was felt at first, as Mr. Bathke would go out after stock occasionally, and sometimes be unexpectedly detained.

When still no trace of the missing man had been found the first of the week an investigation was started, and on Wednesday the incident was reported to Sheriff Dedds Keith. This (Thursday) morning a searching party was organized in town and went out shortly before noon. The party, consisting of about fourteen men, organized into groups and started out in all directions from the house. Only a few minutes after starting from the house Donald Wigen, who was working with Joe Smith, discovered the body.

The condition of the body indicated that death had occurred somewhere previously. Guards were set up in the vicinity, and the rest of the searching party returned to town. An undertaker was called from Havre, and the body will be brought in this afternoon. An inquest will probably be unnecessary.

The news of the tragic accident is a distinct shock to the whole community. Merle Bathke was one of the best liked young men in the community, and was well known throughout this part of the state. He was born and raised here. He was raised here, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bathke. He was married, and leaves his wife and a little son about three years of age.

Funeral Services Held for Late Merle Bathke

Graveside services for the late Merle F. Bathke were held at the Chester cemetery Friday afternoon of last week at four o'clock.

The services were conducted by Rev. Winkle, of Havre, and were attended by a large number of friends and neighbors who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect and sympathy.

Pallbearers were Donald Wigen, Joe Smith, Robert Pugsley, Harry A. Heimbigner, Leonard Pugsley and Austin Broadhurst.

Merle F. Bathke was born February 8th, 1917, in Chester, Montana, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bathke. He passed away June 8, 1941, being a little more than twenty-seven years of age. He attended the Chester schools, and started farming and raising stock when quite young. He had farmed land southwest of Chester, on Willow Creek, the past few years, and had made a success of this venture. He was living at the Willow Creek farm at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife and a little two year old son; his father and mother and three sisters.

Great Falls Editor Dies Suddenly

Great Falls, July 12—A brilliant career in Montana journalism, which covered a period of nearly 40 years and during which he was a factor in the proper direction of public opinion, ended Tuesday morning when Harry B. Brooks, editor of The Great Falls Tribune, died suddenly while at work. Death was due to a heart attack.

Brooks, 67, had suffered intermittent attacks of a heart ailment during the last three years but continued his editorial work continuously except for a few brief absences. Recently he had appeared to be in good health.

Tuesday morning at about 9:30, Brooks walked from his office to a change room and was suddenly stricken. He collapsed in the arms of his associate, Lester Cole, editor-manager of the Montana Farmer. Death was almost instantaneous.

Recognized as one of the outstanding editorial writers in Montana Brooks' knowledge of Montana problems and future and his grasp of national subjects on many occasions brought him signal honors.

Tribute From President

On Oct. 4, 1937, President Roosevelt paid tribute to an editorial entitled, "Balancing the Budget of Our Resources." The president referred to Brooks as "an editor of more than usual ability" and declared that "this editor has written in simple language that the layman can read and understand, a clear and accurate statement. It is so fine that it speaks my own mind better than I could speak it myself."

Brooks also received national recognition from the national executive committee of the American Legion in 1940 and from various other organizations and individuals.

Brooks was born Jan. 15, 1877, at Renville, Minn. He studied on his grandfather's farm, graduating from high school at 14 years of age and from the University of Minnesota four years later.

Brooks commenced his newspaper career at Renville, and during April, 1898, interrupted it to enlist in Co. H, 14th Minnesota Volunteer Infantry during the Spanish-American war. He was mustered out of service the following December.

In 1905, he moved to Chinook, being employed by E. L. Carver, a banker, to work on the Chinook Bulletin, then engaged in marked rivalry with the Chinook Opinion.

About a year later, Brooks and the late Earl T. Richards purchased the Chinook Opinion, Brooks becoming editor. This publication subsequently became one of the best known county papers in the state.

In 1928, Brooks, John Survant of the Phillips County News, Dan Whetstone of the Cut Bank Pioneer Press and Harry Polk of Williston, N.D. purchased the Havre Promoter from R. G. Linebarger, renaming it the Havre Daily News. Brooks became editor and continued in that capacity until he became editor of The Great Falls Tribune, May 13, 1934. He retained his interests in the Chinook Opinion for several years, although severing his executive and editorial duties upon removing to Great Falls.

FATAL ACCIDENT
TAKES MAN'S LIFE

Marion Grover Cooley, transient laborer, was instantly killed on the highway about four miles east of Chester Monday night when he was hit by a truck driven by Henry Leighton, of Chester.

The unfortunate accident occurred about ten o'clock Monday night. Mr. Leighton was coming into town with a load of coal, and the accident victim stepped out onto the highway right in front of the heavily loaded truck, making it impossible for the driver to miss him.

A thorough investigation was made of the accident at a coroner's inquest held Tuesday morning, which absolved Mr. Leighton of any possible blame.

It is reported that Cooley stepped out in front of the east bound bus a short time before, but the bus driver was able to stop in time to avoid hitting him.

Little is known of the accident victim here. He recently came from Great Falls, and was on his way out to the George Adams ranch, north of town, to work.

The body was taken to Havre after the inquest, and funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Holland & Bonine funeral home, with the Rev. George Reid, pastor of the Van Orsdel Methodist church, officiating.

Later information obtained here disclosed that Cooley was born in Dawson, Ill., March 14, 1888. His parents were Charles H. and Nancy Elizabeth McDaniel Cooley. Mr. Cooley came to Montana in 1912 and homesteaded near Roy. He later worked on various ranches and farms.

Survivors included three sisters, Mrs. Guy Allan of Denton, Mrs. Jennie Brake of Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. Ethel Rutherford of Pawnee, Ill., and a brother, Louis Cooley, of Springfield, Ill.

Soon after lunch he got in his car and drove to the St. Anthony & Dakota elevator to see his son, Eddie, who is manager of that institution. Pioneer Matron is Called by Death

Mrs. Mary Ann Walden, beloved pioneer matron of the community, mother of Roy and Claude Walden, Chester business men, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Walden Sunday night, June 24th, following an illness of only a few hours.

Mrs. Walden had apparently been in usual health during the day Sunday, and had gone to the home of Mr and Mrs. Claude Walden for dinner. After dinner she had gone with the family for a ride, but on returning was stricken with a heart attack or stroke, and passed away in short time.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at two o'clock from the Methodist church in Chester, after which the body will be taken to Walker Station, near Eugene, Oregon, for burial beside her husband. The body will be accompanied by four sons.

Mrs. Walden was a typical pioneer woman of the west. She was born June 3rd, 1857, at Cottage Grove, Oregon, and was one of the first white children born in the state of Oregon. She was just past 87 years of age at the time of her passing, and was the sole surviving member of a family of five children. She was the eldest daughter of John F. and Mary Jane Walker, pioneer residents of Oregon who were attracted to the west coast during the gold rush of 1849. She was married in 1878 to Nathan B. Walden at Weston, Oregon, and a year later moved to the Willamette Valley and with her husband established a home near what is now the city of Eugene, where they resided continuously until 1904. In the latter year the couple moved to Grangeville, Idaho where they lived for a year, and then moved to Alberta, where they resided until 1909, when they came to Montana, where they lived until 1927, when they moved back to the old home near Eugene. Here Mr. and Mrs. Walden made their home until 1927, when Mr. Walden passed on. After the death of her husband Mrs. Walden returned to Chester, and has made her home here since with her son, Roy.

Mrs. Walden raised a family of seven sons, all of whom are living. They are George, Mark, Ralph, and Paul Walden, all living in Alberta; John Walden, living in Eugene, and Roy and Claude Walden, living in Chester.

With his son, Roy, Mr. Walden established a mercantile business in Chester, but later sold his interest in the business to Claude Walden when he and Mrs. Walden returned to their old home in Oregon. Since that time the business has been continued under the firm name of Walden Brothers.

During their residence in the Chester community, Mr. and Mrs. Walden made friends with all of the residents during that period. Their home was a haven of hospitality and help and advice for the homesteaders, workers and others here at that time. Mr. Walden was a lay minister of the Gospel, and religious services were often held in their home.

Mrs. Walden lived to a good old age, enjoyed an eventful and useful life, and leaves to her family and all those who knew her a heritage of loving service and companionship that will ever be cherished in fondest memory.

“Slim” as many of his old Hingham friends well remember him, took an active part in the development of this section of the hi-line. He not only busted many acres of virgin sod and later knocked out many bushels of golden grain with his threshing machine, but also took time off during those busy days, to play ball with the Hingham team at his customary place behind the plate. He was a good loser and never enjoyed a game without fair play, not only in base ball but in all the varied and complex games in the great drama of life he always championed the rights of those less fortunate. His standard of wealth was not measured in worldly goods but rather in the kindred bonds of true friendship and service. His philosophy of life was based upon the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.
